

Organic Matters

You said “Organic matters”, so I fed the hedgehog
not slugs nor grubs,
but cabbage,
naturally grown.
Biodynamically.

And he lived healthily
till lured by succulence
of worm and wheat germ, fat from a field, fertilised.
And he became less hedge,
more modified hog.
Genetically.

Till he grew large
and slow of speed
to outrun four-by-fours.
Indeed,
it’s true for all,
but for some,
more so -
organic matters.
